CONTENTS

Leatherette Cover

You can see in the photo all the required tools to perform this task.

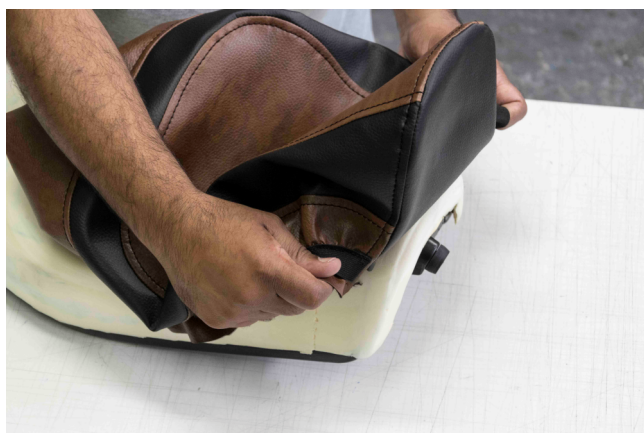

1

Undo all the old screws that hold the cover in place.

Make sure the foam is dry and clean.

2

Slide the cover through (as shown in the photo) using first the front end and then the back – do not be afraid to pull tightly if you have to.

3

Pull tight along the perimeter of the seat so that the rubber is underneath the seat

4

Start nailing the leatherette cover first on the right and then on the left hand side and approximately along the middle of the seat. Make sure you nail it underneath the rubber and not on it. Pull tightly to make sure the cover has tightened properly.

5

Use a nail at the rear centre part of the cover – make sure it is placed precisely in the middle.

6

Place a nail at the front end of the seat , one on the right side and one on the left side – before you do that make sure you've spread the leatherette evenly and rightly centered.

Then start nailing the cover in place, going along its perimeter (every 2-3 cm), by pulling it tightly and always underneath the rubber.

At the front end where there is no piece of rubber, nail it in a circular motion, approximately 2 cm off the outer part.

7

Once you have finished, start cutting off the remaining leatherette beneath the rubber.

8

At the front end cut in a circular motion.

9

Finally, you may place 3-4 nails on the leatherette so that it doesn't stick out.
